W: 185 cm (72 13/16")
H: 83 cm (32 11/16")

Spanish Provincial pine bench settle.

This farmhouse piece exhibits folk art style, with simple construction and a waxed finish.

Lovely curved details to the ends of the backrest, which is punctuated with vertical splats.

The settle originated in Europe during the Middle Ages, to provide more comfort than a plain wooden bench. As a solid and permanent piece of furniture in the home, they indicated wealth and stability.

Spanish furniture retained medieval trends for longer than the rest of Europe and we often see heavy, simple Spanish pieces such as this bench.

This bench embodies honest craftsmanship and rustic charm and it would look perfect in a hallway or kitchen.
