Single metal version of Gio Ponti's Superleggera chair.

Gio Ponti was a Mid-Century Italian architect, artist and designer who embraced modern Italian design principles. He believed that each piece of a structure should work in harmony and be suited to modern living.

The Superleggera chair is one of his most iconic designs, meaning 'super lightweight' in Italian.

The design of the Superleggera chair was inspired by the traditional and very simple vernacular chairs produced in the Ligurian town of Chiavari.

A highly recognisable design, this chair is an icon of Italian post-war design and the country's craft. The Superleggera chair has a timeless aesthetic which blends seamlessly into interiors.
