If you are after something a bit different for wall decoration, this scholarship board is certain to make an impressive statement in any interior.

Dating to the 19th Century, this hand-written sign records scholarships given to the pupils of a Monastic school.

The six columns alternate between giving the year and relevant school term- Christmas, Easter or Midsummer- and the first two initials and full surname of each scholar.

This is a fantastic piece of personal history, that exudes character and charm.
