Plaster Maquette Sculpture of a Young Boy

£1,950.00

W: 50 cm (19 11/16")
H: 98 cm (38 9/16")
D: 22 cm (8 11/16")

Plaster sculpture of a naked young boy holding fishes aloft.

This charming sculpture is believed to be a maquette of John Hodges' fountain sculpture in Braintree, Essex.

A maquette is a three-dimensional object made as a preparatory study for a full-sized sculpture.

With his small proportions, this sculpture will make a lovely decorative accent in the home.
