Large mid 19th Century painted pine cabinet, originally from Prague.

This cabinet was made to house a collection of fossil specimens.

It is of great scale with a wonderful architectural form, including the moulded cornice and column-style vertical supports.

This piece features four glazed doors which expose the attractive pine interior and spacious shelves.

Resting on six square tapering legs.

This cabinet is great for storage and display, particularly if you have a treasured collection as it was originally intended for.
