This cabinet has attractive small proportions but a striking form. The top and bottom both offer two deeply panelled doors which are flanked by attractive foliate and acanthus carvings. Both sections offer one interior shelf.

They are separated by a middle section with two drawers adorned with decorative escutcheons to match the doors.

Retaining keys for both the doors and the drawers. Resting on round turned front feet and square block feet to the rear.

The bleached oak gives this cabinet wonderful colour and it will be a statement feature in period or contemporary settings alike.
