

GA1916793

Limestone Staddle Stones

£5,000.00

W: 90 cm (35 7/16")
H: 90 cm (35 7/16")
D: 90 cm (35 7/16")

Fantastic collection of five Cotswold stone 'staddle' stones.

Staddle stones were originally used by farmers as foundations for their grain stores or livestock. They are now commonly used within-country estates as chic decorative elements in gardens or to flank a walkway.

This collection of staddle stones feature well-modeled toadstool formations. They have a beautiful natural patina due to being outside for many a year.

A charming addition to any garden or courtyard.

Materials & Techniques: Limestone
Condition: Good
Period: 18th Cent and Earlier

