Decorative 20th Century French buffet, circa 1920.

This wonderful buffet has a lovely white stone top which has with veins of a subtle gold shade throughout.

Featuring five panelled doors which have decorative motifs throughout. From what we can see, each door represents a different element, there is a sun (fire), wind (air), and rain (water) character that all align with classical elements.

The whole is supported on a mix of wood and metal supports which are decoratively carved to represent a scrolled leaf.

It has been beautifully made and is in great condition for its age.

The designer is unknown, but this does not detract from its attractive charm and presence.
