Stylish pair of 'G2' chairs's designed by Pierre Guariche, Joseph-André Motte and Michel Mortier for ARP (Atelier de Recherches Plastiques).

The ARP was founded in 1954 by Pierre Guariche, Joseph-André Motte, and Michel Mortier who were friends and designers during the Mid-20th Century. All three designers have something in common, they all wanted to create an association that specialised in designing a series of furniture for manufacturer Charles Minvielle.

These fantastic chairs have a great form and are made from steel.

Both will make for an interesting focal point within any social setting.
