H: 119 cm (46 7/8")
D: 45 cm (17 3/4")

Lovely 18th Century mahogany gentleman's clothes horse.

This piece would have originally been used for drying clothing within Georgian England and would have been placed within a pantry or large washroom. Today, this piece would make for a decorative piece or be used for its original purpose.

Features gun barrel turnings and pad feet that display their original patina and finishes.

It is a great example of classic Chippendale design.

Materials & Techniques: Mahogany
Condition: Good
Period: 18th Cent and Earlier
