Early 20th Century Tabriz carpet.

The city of Tabriz in the North West region of Persia has been a major centre of rug weaving since the 14th Century and as heir to such a long tradition, no other rug-producing region in Persia can claim such a wide array of designs or pattern types.

This stunning large vase design Tabriz carpet is a masterpiece of bold beauty.

The impressive large-scale patterns introduce a hint of fanciful creativity that suggest carefree spontaneity. The muted tan colour field has a pleasant colour variation which adds great depth to the simple drawing, framed by a tasteful border.

In very good practical condition for everyday use.

A sophisticated example with understated elegance to blend in a contemporary or classic setting.
