19th Century French folding vendange table.

The French wine harvest, vendange, begins in autumn and can finish as late as the end of October.

The process involves intense labour and when it comes to an end, it's time to taste the wine and celebrate with friends and family.

With trestle supports and a tilt top function, these tables allowed for easy storage in the cellar and movement outside for wine-tasting.

These tables will transport you to the French vineyards and are suited to a range of interiors and functions.
